BLACK FROG is a Diplomacy Zine that emphasizes that Postal Diplomacy is fun to to play! The publisher is John H. 'Jack' Masters, 25711 North Vista Fairways Drive, Valencia, CA 91355. Telephone (805) 259-2811.
.....

Subscriptions to BF are $12.00 per year or for 24 issues, whichever comes last. This rate is good only until January 1st, 1981.

Diplomacy is a multi-player war game invented by Allan B. Calhamer and currently owned by Avalon Hill Company.

At present there is one game opening in BF (see below); any subber or prospective subber that wants to play in this game please let me know as soon as possible. Three slots are already filled in it. There is no game fee in addition to holding a subscription to BF.

DIPLOMACY TOURNAMENT IN SACRAMENTO

February 14th and 15th the Royal Game Store in Sacramento is sponsoring a DIPLOMACY TOURNAMENT with prizes ranging from $5.00 to $100.00. The tournament will consist of three rounds of play; each round not to exceed six hours. Registration is by mail (to be received no later than Monday, February 9th) for $4.00; or you can register at the door for $6.00. For more information contact Clark Reynolds at 6731 - 37th Avenue, Sacramento, CA 95824. (Home: ((916)) 383-6030, or Office ((916)) 322-9888).

The group in Sacramento is trying to establish this as a semi-annual tournament that would draw attendees from the West Coast. I think it is a real good idea and I would like to see the hobby give it a lot of support. I missed the first of these, which was held last August. The timing for that one was bad for me as it came right inbetween GlasCon and PacifiCon and just a weekend away from Mike Hartman's Shortley-Con. But this time, I expect to be up there. Anybody from southern California want to get together and carpool? Let me know if you do.

Some time ago Don Horton announced that he was winding up his long enduring zine "Claw and Fang" with issue #124. He will get to issue #124 in March of 1981. By now some of you have probably guessed that I have decided that this was a pretty good idea. I will end Black Frog with issue #124, just like Horton, only I am hurrying mine out in order to get to the coveted #124 before Don does.
.....

In regard to Black Frog issue #24. Everybody who has guessed as to what it was has guessed right so far. With very few exceptions, everybody who thinks that they did not get a copy is wrong. They have merely failed to recognize it for what it is!

Several persons have written and asked about getting copies of BF #1-7. The first six issues of Black Frog (and the first five of them were not named) were for the sole purpose of completing the orphaned game 1977HG. There were less than 10 copies of all of these printed. BF #7 went a bit further. In addition to carrying the final season of 1977HG, it made the announcement that the zine would be expanding a starting some new games. In all about 30 copies of this went out. As many of you know, it was my original intention to limit BF subscriptions to 30. I still do have the originals for these seven issues. If any subber, knowing what they are, still wants them--I would be willing to Xerox them off and send the whole batch out for $1.00.

JDMU is dead! Only one reader expressed an interest in playing in this variant game. The offer to run it is cancelled. Mike Mills (Emhain Macha) is still trying to fill a game in his zine. Keith Mercer, Dan Palter and the Ole' Black Frog himself are signed up. If you are interested in this game, write to Mills at 1585 Quaker Road, Macedon, NY 14502. Jimmu is a six player game set in Japan. With fewer supply centers and only six players, it is a bit simpler game than ordinary Diplomacy. Which to my mind makes for a better variant. Map and rules are available (for a charge) from Mills.

With the cancellation of JDMU, there will be one more opening in regular Diplomacy in Black Frog. If you want in, let me know right away.

Winter 1902 orders will be due on January 6th, 1981 at 12:00 noon PST. Spring 1903 orders will then be due on January 22nd, 1981. The seasons are extended out a bit so that you may enjoy a Merry Christmas without having to worry about this game for a few days.

NOTE: Blair Cusack is still the player of record for Austria. The Apple computer will, if necessary, submit neutral orders for him for one more season (which will not count the possible winter adjustments). Per the BF house rules, if he does not pick up the position by this time, Austria will go into CD.

BERLIN to MOSCOW: Only kidding!

BERLIN to LONDON: It is with a sad heart that I must move against you. You do believe that don't you?

BERLIN TIMES: The Kaiser today announced that he will be ordering English ships destroyed in all German controlled harbors over Christmas. He stated this in the news studios of KICK TV. We have no idea what TV means since this is a top secret military installation of the Kaisers.

THE SAD SAD FLIGHT OF A DIPLOMACY PLAYER'S BEST FRIEND

by COL. JAMES V. LIPSCOMB

It seems that recently there was an article by a "Diplomacy Widow" in what you chape refer to as one of your "zines". I would like to relate to you an equally, if different, hideous situation I now find myself in: "Best friend of a Diplomacy player".

At one time, Dr. Alfred Giddings and I did many things together. We practiced karate, we lifted weights, we jogged. Often we took trips together or just sat around leisurely gulping Old Bushmille and listening to Leon Redbone, Gene Autry or Tommy Dorsey.

I recall one Christmas, several years ago, arriving at his apartment to find he had received a "Kriegspiel" game as a gift.

"Would you like to play?" Al politely asked.

"Hell no." I politely answered. "I hate games."

Luckily, he could find no one who would engage in this fascist-sounding activity with him and the box was soon tucked under his underwear in a drawer where it belonged. "Panzerblitz" soon followed and met a similar, just demise.

Before long, however, while drinking a small quart of akvavit after a very pleasant jog through the slums, I noticed a new box on his bookshelf. It had a nauseating color combination of turquoise and purple.

"What the hell, now?" I screamed.

"Nothing." He replied, quickly throwing his sweatshirt over the box.

"Another one of those games no one will play with you, huh? You fool." I cackled.

Well, I was wrong. Satan in a purple-turquoise box had arrived. He found plenty of willing and experienced players. The following Sunday afternoon, when we usually worked out, I heard strange noises as I started to knock on the door.

"Fleet Sevastopol to Black Sea."

"Fleet Kiel to Denmark."

"Army Rome to Apulia."

I started to back away from the door, fearing the KGB had taken over his apartment. Then, thinking he might be in trouble, I picked up a nearby brick. With visions of Dr. Giddings gagged, tied to a chair and being beaten by communists, I kicked in the door and screamed "Freeze, FBI!"

What did I see? Seven people huddled in pairs. In corners, under the table, and two pairs of feet sticking out from under the bed.

"Come on in," said Giddings, "But you'll have to be quiet."

I spent the rest of the afternoon watching in amazement as people sneaked off and told each other secrets and then accused each other of being liars. When the afternoon was over, I knew I had lost my best friend.

Well, over the years, I have watched him go from bad to worse. Once in excellent physical condition, he is now a nervous, whining little wimp.

"Let's go lift weights." I might suggest.

"Oh no! I can't. I think England and France have teamed up on me. I've got to write letters tonight."

"Well, then let's stop and have a couple of drinks after work."

"Can't! Have to keep a clear head for my international game. Those guys are killers. . ."

By that time I've shut him out, as has everyone else who used to be his friend, including his wife. My the misery he's put her through. Oh, I'm still invited over occasionally for taco salad and to watch Al Type. Last week I glanced through the window to see the poor woman dancing with the broom. That night, as he pecked away at his little typewriter, coming up for air only long enough to gleefully explain how he was stabbing the Italian, she and I had a long talk about this unfortunate situation.

Goodbye, Al. The times we used to have will remain as fond memories. But by the time you read this in your "zine", your wife and I will be in Rio.
